Term 2

Week 2A

DEPUTY PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

Parent/Teacher Interviews

Tuesday night saw the second of this year's Parent/Teacher interviews. It was great to see so many Stage 5 students and their parents in attendance, having organised times via the online booking system. The night was extremely busy with the last parent walking out the doors a little after 8pm. These nights present a great opportunity for parents to discuss their children's progress thus far. This is particularly the case for Year 10 students who will be facing decisions regarding subject choices for Year 11 and 12 in the latter half of this year.

P & C Meeting

On the same night, our loyal group of P & C members held their General Meeting in the staff common room at 8pm. The guest speakers for the meeting were Mrs Arkins, Head Teacher LOTE, and Mr Woo, the new Head Teacher Mathematics. Mrs Arkins spoke about the wonderful International Programs which Cherrybrook Technology High School offers, including the long-standing relationships we have with four sister schools overseas, including one in France, Germany, Japan and China. Students in Stages 5 and 6, who study LOTE subjects, may be lucky enough to participate in one of the planned study trips to our sister schools, where fantastic learning opportunities await and new friendships with overseas friends are forged. On hearing of the ongoing efforts of Mr Wade and his Cambodia Project initiative, the P & C agreed to donate $2,000 to the cause. This money will go a long way towards improving the educational resources accessible to teachers and students in this Cambodian school.

Mr Woo thanked the P & C for their generous financial assistance which has helped in the purchase of new textbooks to suit the new National curriculum in Years 7 and 9. He encouraged all parents to ensure their children embrace mathematics, given its importance in everyday life.

Greenway Park Skate Park Expansion works

On the community front, we have been informed by Hornsby Shire Council that the expansion works to the Greenway Skate Park, which a number of our students access, will commence in mid May and go through to July this year. The council indicated works will be confined to the skate park, with the adjacent carpark remaining open, however, parents and students using facilities in this area need to be careful of construction vehicles during this time.

Year 12 HSC Aboriginal Major Projects

Our students in the Aboriginal studies course recently handed in their HSC major projects which represents a significant proportion of their HSC assessment grade. For many, their projects are a culmination of two terms of extensive research and ongoing community consultation with members from the Aboriginal community. There are an incredibly interesting range of topics covering feminism, the role of Aboriginal women and an interesting look at the Aboriginal perspective of the Deficit Model, and what it is like for the Aboriginal community to always be referred to as having a 'GAP' from the rest of the Australian population.

One student, Jed Corbett Year 11, has presented his research of a remote community in the Northern Territory, which involved many Skype sessions with Aboriginal leaders. HSC major projects can take on many forms, from artistic depictions, film to written reports. Our students have done a fantastic job and their teacher, Mrs Cross, is extremely proud of their work. After their projects have been marked, they will be displayed for the students' parents to view, so others can marvel at the splendour of this magnificent work.

Congratulations to...

- Matthew Lee, Year 11, who has been selected to represent NSW in the 2014 CP Maddern Trophy and under 19 Australian Badminton Championships, to be held in Perth.
- Thomas Pellow and Ashley Eaton, Year 7, whose team came third in the NSW Little League State Titles. They both play representative baseball for the Ryde North Little League and will now compete in the Australian Little League Championships in Queensland.

Plain English Speaking Competition

Congratulations to Thanaya Naidu, Year 12, who ably represented our school in the Plain English Speaking Competition at Abbotsleigh School on Thursday 8 May. This competition requires students to speak for eight minutes on a topic of their choice and the level of speaking expertise in this competition at the zone level is very high.

Thanaya spoke with passion about her love for dance, insightfully linking this ancient art form to multiculturalism today and highlighting the capacity of dance to unite and inspire. Thanaya was commended on her manner and the substance of her impromptu speech on 'Locked Out', a demanding part of the competition in which students are given only three minutes to prepare a three minute speech on an unseen topic. Congratulations on a fine effort!

Hospitality

Year 12 hospitality students returned after the holidays to demonstrate they had not forgotten any of their food preparation and presentation skills. This week they produced a range of beautiful canapes that would make a tasty treat for any Mother's Day afternoon tea this weekend.

Happy Mother's Day to all the mum's on Sunday - let's hope all the food technology and hospitality students give you a break from cooking and prepare you a delicious meal on your special day!

CREATIVELY SPEAKING

TICKETS ARE NOW ON SALE FOR THE WIZ

Tickets are now on sale for the much anticipated CTHS musical for 2014, The Wiz. With a massive cast set to take to the MPC stage in Week 6, this is one night of entertainment you won't want to miss! So order online or come to the student window and secure your seats for this jaw-dropping, toe tapping spectacle of a musical!

Last Wednesday, the cast of The Wiz were joined by thirty Year 4 and 5 students from Oakhill, John Purchase and Cherrybrook Public Schools respectively. These keenly coordinated and zealous individuals are the Munchkins of Oz. There are sure to be many proud Mums, Dads, Grandmas and Grandpas sitting in the audience, cheering on their little grandchild as they "mix it with the big kids" and get a taste of the showbiz spirit.

The sets are built and a special thank you goes to all the very generous students who gave up their time to paint all sorts of sections of the stage design. The music and singing sound great and the cast are anticipating the first audience, with an ever-growing sense of excitement and confidence.

Grab your family and head on down to catch this incredible show coming soon to our MPC in Week 6.

Year 8 Drama Incursion

Last Friday saw 313 students from our Year 8 cohort attend the inaugural Year 8 drama incursion. Our students really showed that they have what it takes to be an attentive and responsive audience.

Mic Conway presented the ultimate one-man show entitled Entertaining Australia, which provided a cleverly cohesive overview of the history of live performance in Australia. Writer, performer, musical comedy singer/songwriter and former frontman for the 1970's band, Captain Matchbox and the Woppee Band, as well as founding member of Circus Oz, Mic painted a vivid picture of our theatrical heritage from our country's beginnings until the present time. One of the most entertaining parts of the show for me was when Mic did his fire eating and fire breathing tricks which really lit things up. Another example of Mic's fine performance skills was when he juggled four plucked chickens (plastic replicas) without dropping a single one.

It was great to have such a legend performing here at CTHS.

An Introduction to the Ballet

On Wednesday, our Year 9 and 10 dance students were treated to a wonderful new program offered by the Australian Ballet, called An Introduction to the Ballet, which was staged at the illustrious Sydney Opera House. The event began with an hour-long ballet warm-up where the members of the Australian Ballet went through their daily routines, which build strength and consolidate their dance practice. It was extraordinary to see these elite performers move effortlessly through the demanding sequences. Graceful, athletic and spirited, their devotion to the art form was abundantly evident.

The students were then treated to extracts from one of the great "showpieces" of the International repertoire, this being the Suite en Blanc which has quickly become an audience favourite.

Thanks go to Miss Holt for organising this wonderfully inspiring excursion for her very talented Stage 5 dancers.

Mild Head Injury Advice

2009

Important points about Mild Head Injury

You may have had a mild head injury. Most people recover rapidly following a mild head injury. A few people may suffer from symptoms over a longer period.

There is a small risk of you developing serious complications so you should be watched closely by another adult for 24 hours after the accident. Please read the following. It outlines what signs to look out for after a head injury and what you need to do if you have problems.

Warning signs

If you show any of these symptoms or signs after your head injury, or you get worse, go to the nearest hospital, doctor or telephone an ambulance immediately.

- > Fainting or drowsiness – or you can't wake up
- > Acting strangely, saying things that do not make sense (change in behaviour)
- > A constant severe headache or a headache that gets worse
- > Vomiting or throwing up more than twice
- > Cannot remember new events, recognise people or places (increased confusion)
- > Pass out or have a blackout or a seizure (any jerking of the body or limbs)
- > Cannot move parts of your body or clumsiness
- > Blurred vision or slurred speech
- > Continual fluid or bleeding from the ear or nose

The first 24-48 hours after injury

-  Warning Signs You should be observed and go to hospital if you develop any of the above warning signs.
-  Rest / Sleeping Rest and avoid strenuous activity for at least 24 hours. It is alright for you to sleep tonight but you should be checked every four hours by someone to make sure you are alright.
-  Driving Do not drive for at least 24 hours. You should not drive until you feel much better and can concentrate properly. Talk to your doctor.
-  Drinking / Drugs Do not drink alcohol or take sleeping pills or recreational drugs in the next 48 hours. All of these can make you feel worse. They also make it hard for other people to tell whether the injury is affecting you or not.
-  Pain Relief Use paracetamol or paracetamol/codeine for headaches. Do not use aspirin or anti-inflammatory pain reliever such as ibuprofen or naproxen (NSAIDs), which may increase the risk of complications.
-  Sports Do not play sports for at least 24 hours.

See your local doctor if you are not starting to feel better within a few days of your injury.

Adapted from "Mild Head Injury Discharge Advice" author Dr Duncan Reed (2009) Director of Trauma Gosford Hospital, NSW Institute of Trauma and Injury Management

<http://www.maa.nsw.gov.au/default.aspx?MenuID=148>

The first 4 weeks after injury

You may have some common effects from the head injury which usually resolve in several weeks to three months. These are called post concussive symptoms (see below). Tiredness can exaggerate the symptoms. Return to your normal activities gradually (not all at once) during the first weeks or months. You can help yourself get better by:

-  Rest / Sleeping Your brain needs time to recover. It is important to get adequate amounts of sleep as you may feel more tired than normal.
-  Driving Do not drive or operate machinery until you feel much better and can concentrate properly. Talk to your doctor.
-  Drinking / Drugs Do not drink alcohol or use recreational drugs until you are fully recovered. They will make you feel much worse. Do not take medication unless advised by your doctor.
-  Work / Study You may need to take time off work or study until you can concentrate better. Most people need a day or two off work but are back full time in less than 2 weeks. How much time you need off work or study will depend on the type of job you do. See your doctor and let your employer or teachers know if you are having problems at work or with study. You may need to return to study or work gradually.
-  Sport / Lifestyle It is dangerous for the brain to be injured again if it has not recovered from the first injury. Talk to your doctor about the steps you need to take to gradually increase sports activity and return to play. If in doubt "sit it out".
-  Relationships Sometimes your symptoms will affect your relationship with family and friends. You may suffer irritability and mood swings. See your doctor if you or your family are worried.

Recovery

You should start to feel better within a few days and be 'back to normal' within about 4 weeks. See your local doctor if you are not starting to feel better.

Your doctor will monitor these symptoms and may refer you to a specialist if you do not improve over 4 weeks up to 3 months.

Post Concussion Symptoms

There are common symptoms after a mild head injury. They usually go away within a few days or weeks. Sometimes you may not be aware of them until sometime after your injury like when you return to work.

- ❖ Mild headaches (that won't go away)
- ❖ Feeling more tired than usual and lacking energy (fatigue)
- ❖ Having more trouble than usual with attention & concentration
- ❖ Irritability, Losing your temper and getting annoyed easily
- ❖ Having more trouble than usual with remembering things (memory difficulties/forgetfulness)
- ❖ Mood swings
- ❖ Feeling dizzy or sick without vomiting (nausea)
- ❖ Anxiety or depression
- ❖ Balance problems
- ❖ Mild behavioural change
- ❖ More difficulty than usual with making decisions and solving problems, getting things done or being organised
- ❖ More sensitive to sounds or lights
- ❖ Feeling vague, slowed or "foggy" thinking
- ❖ Change in sleep patterns. Trouble sleeping or sleeping too much
- ❖ Reduced tolerance to alcohol
